Institutional Hosting (fiscal sponsorship)

The Global Resilience Partnership, a non-profit registered in South Africa, offers Institutional Hosting (fiscal sponsorship) to mission-aligned organisations and initiatives working to build resilience in the face of climate, economic, and social shocks. Through this service, organisations and initiatives gain access to our established operational infrastructure, allowing them to focus on delivering impact while we handle the administrative backbone.

What we offer

As an Institutional Host (fiscal sponsor), we provide a trusted institutional home for initiatives, programmes, or projects. Our support package can include:

- Financial management: receipt and disbursement of funds, accounting, audit support, and donor financial reporting in line with international standards
 - Grant management, including contracting and legal: drafting and managing grant agreements, sub-awards and due diligence, consultancy contracts, partner agreements, and legal advice
 - Administration and compliance: procurement, due diligence, risk management, and adherence to donor and regulatory requirements
 - Operational support (as needed): contracting of staff and travel administration
 - Strategy and programme support (optional): strategy and programming support in implementation
 - Monitoring, Evaluation and Learning: management of donor narrative reporting timelines and requirements; optional MEL support and organisational development support of MEL practices and processes, based on GRP's established MEL routines and indicator framework
 - Communications (optional): amplification through GRP's channels and media strategy

How it works

We tailor each institutional hosting (fiscal sponsorship) arrangement to the scope and needs of the partner. Services are provided following a transparent fee schedule, calculated as a percentage of funds managed, ensuring full cost recovery while keeping overheads predictable.

GRP is registered in South Africa as a non-profit company (NPC) under the Companies Act. We operate under a full suite of internal governance, financial management, and compliance policies, and our institutional hosting (fiscal sponsorship) arrangements are structured to meet both South African legal requirements and applicable donor standards.

Who it's for

Institutional Hosting (fiscal sponsorship) is well suited to emerging initiatives, coalitions, consortia, regranting or onward-granting arrangements, or time-bound projects that need a credible institutional host without establishing their own legal entity. We also provide these services for organisations that are newly started while building their own organisation and legal and compliance framework.

Incubating the Ocean Risk and Resilience Action Alliance (ORRAA)

As the Ocean Risk and Resilience Action Alliance (ORRAA)'s incubator, GRP played a valued role in its success. At its inception, hosting ORRAA within GRP's organisational structure helped expedite the Alliance's creation, allowing it to focus on its mission, providing it with access to government funding, and sharing both resilience and organisational expertise, and operational systems support.
